

IT TRAINING (MS OFFICE)

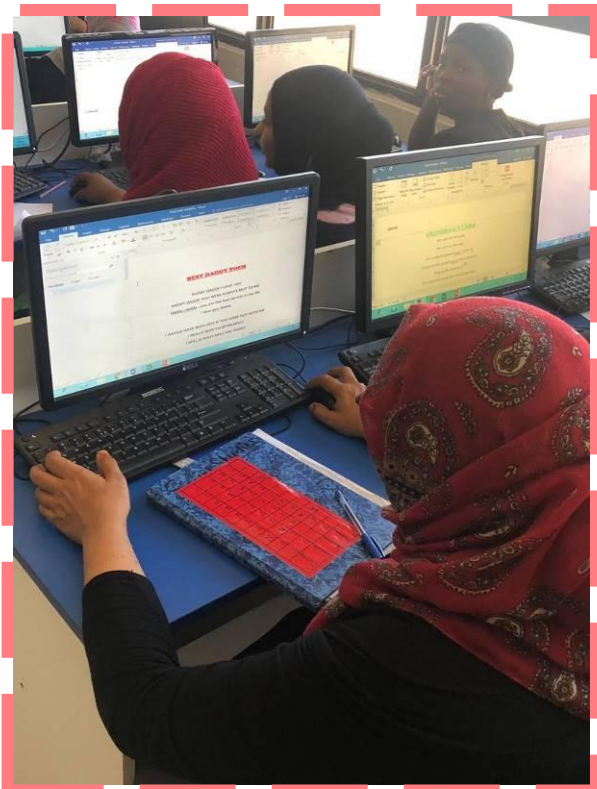

It is important for teachers to face new challenges and changes in the education world well equipped with the latest methodologies and techniques integrating technology in their teaching and learning process.

To play an effective role as an educator thirty teachers of AMBPS and AMUNS are attending an in service training to update their IT skills and knowledge. They will complete 30 hours of training in using MS-Word, MS-Excel and PowerPoint to supplement and enhance lessons by engaging students in higher-order thinking skills. The teachers are undergoing the theory with the practical features daily. The sessions are interactive as well as peer supported.

The teachers have taken the responsibility of their self-improvement and development which we trust would contribute towards the positive effectiveness of the program.

Teachers participate in both theory and practical learning sessions
